Turnover cleaning checklist

Every step we expect a Parcel home to meet before the next guest checks in. Use this when you're turning over the home yourself instead of scheduling our cleaning team. Some items only apply to certain properties, and those are marked along the way.

ITEMS	MODULES	THERMOSTAT	LAST STEP

THE FEW RULES THAT MATTER

- Refill every supply to 100%. Nothing should drop below 75% before a guest arrives.
- Check sheets and pillowcases carefully. Even one hair makes the bed feel unclean to a guest.
- Thermostat to 70°F, lights off, windows closed, and all doors locked when you leave.
- Before and after photos are optional, but helpful if anything gets flagged later.

01 Before you start

6 ITEMS

A few quick photos now protect you if anything comes up later.

- [ ] Walk the home with your phone out and snap a photo of every room before you touch anything. It saves you if there's ever a question later.
- [ ] Jot a quick note of anything damaged or missing before you start moving things around, so you don't second-guess yourself later.
- [ ] Peek under the beds, couches, and nightstands for anything a guest left behind. Lost items are easier to return when you catch them early.
- [ ] Empty every trash bin, inside and out. Starting with fresh bins makes the rest of the clean feel lighter.
- [ ] Crack the windows for about 10 minutes to let the home breathe. It clears out any leftover smells before you start deep cleaning.
- [ ] Take a few before and after shots for your own records. If anything ever gets questioned, you'll be glad you have them.

02 The spots people miss

6 ITEMS

The little things guests notice but never mention. These are what turn a good stay into a great one.

- [ ] Run your hand along the baseboards and check for dust buildup. Guests rarely say anything, but they always notice.
- [ ] Look at the walls, doors, and trim for scuff marks and wipe off anything you can. A magic eraser handles most of them in seconds.
- [ ] Wipe down light switches, door handles, and remotes. These are the spots everyone touches, and they collect more than you'd think.
- [ ] Give mirrors, glassware, windows, and glass tables a once-over for streaks and fingerprints. Clean glass is one of those small things that makes a home feel cared for.
- [ ] Check behind doors, under furniture, and under beds for trash or dust bunnies. These are the spots rushed cleans almost always skip.
- [ ] Take a close look at the sheets and pillowcases. One stray hair is all it takes for a guest to feel like the bed wasn't changed, so check carefully.

03 Damaged or stained items

3 ITEMS

Photos first, then figure out if it's a wash or a replace.

- [ ] Snap a photo of any damage before you touch it. Send us a message in the portal if you'd like us to follow up with the guest.
- [ ] If it's washable, throw it in and see if the stain comes out. If it does, you're good to move on.
- [ ] If something's broken or past saving, take a photo and send us a message in the portal. We often keep backups on hand and can help you get it replaced.

04 Laundry

6 ITEMS

Towels first, then sheets. One load at a time so nothing gets forgotten.

- [ ] Throw in the towels and bath mats first. They take the longest to dry, so starting them early means you're not stuck waiting at the end.
- [ ] Start the sheets once the towels move to the dryer. Running them back to back keeps you in rhythm.
- [ ] Give every sheet, pillowcase, and towel a quick look for stains or damage before it goes in. Easier to catch now than after a hot wash sets it in.
- [ ] Wipe the inside of the washer drum after the last load. It keeps mildew from setting in before the next turn. (only if has washer)
- [ ] Clear the lint trap in the dryer. A clogged trap is a fire risk and the reason loads take forever to dry. (only if has dryer)
- [ ] Finish the laundry all the way: dried, folded, and put away. Don't leave anything sitting in the washer or dryer for the next guest to find.

05 Restock supplies

6 ITEMS

If anything is under 75%, top it up. Aim for 100% before the next guest walks in.

- [ ] Top up the shampoo, conditioner, and body wash, or swap in fresh bottles. Full bottles feel a lot more welcoming than half-empty ones.
- [ ] Refill the coffee, tea, sugar, oil, salt, and pepper back to full. These are the things guests reach for without thinking.
- [ ] Restock the coffee pods so there's plenty for a few mornings. (only if has coffee maker)
- [ ] Check the dish soap, dishwasher pods, and swap in fresh sponges. Old sponges are one of the first things guests notice in a kitchen.
- [ ] Leave 2 rolls of paper towels total: one full roll on the counter and one backup (full or half-used) under the sink.
- [ ] Leave a full roll of trash bags in both the kitchen and the bathroom. It saves guests from digging around when a bin fills up.

06 Interior standards

6 ITEMS

The baseline for every room, every time.

- [ ] Wipe every counter, table, shelf, light switch, doorknob, and handle with disinfectant. These are the surfaces guests touch the most.
- [ ] Vacuum all the carpets and rugs. Don't forget the edges and corners where dust tends to gather.
- [ ] Sweep and mop the kitchen, bathrooms, and any other hard-floor areas. A clean floor changes how the whole home feels.
- [ ] Flip on every light and replace any bulbs that are dead or dim. A dark corner in a listing photo space is an easy thing to miss.
- [ ] Dust picture frames, shelves, fans, and any vents you can reach. Ceiling fans especially, since guests look up from the bed.
- [ ] Put a fresh liner in every trash bin. Little detail, but it makes the home feel ready.

07 Kitchen and pantry

7 ITEMS

This is the room guests judge first. A spotless kitchen buys you a lot of goodwill.

- [ ] Clear the fridge of any food the last guest left behind, then wipe down the shelves and drawers. Nothing ruins a first impression like opening a fridge to leftovers.
- [ ] Check the freezer too. Toss anything opened or past its prime.
- [ ] If any dishes were left inside, run an empty rinse cycle to clear it out. (only if has dishwasher)
- [ ] Scrub the sink, polish the faucet, and wipe the backsplash. A gleaming sink makes the whole kitchen look cleaner than it is.
- [ ] Wipe the inside of the microwave, including the turntable. Splatters from the last guest are easy to miss but impossible to unsee.
- [ ] Wipe the stovetop and the front of the oven. If anything is burnt on, take the time to scrub it off now.
- [ ] Descale the coffee maker at least once a month. It keeps the coffee tasting fresh and the machine running longer. (only if has coffee maker)

08 Bathrooms

6 ITEMS

Scrub, polish, and restock. The counts here matter, so stick to them.

- [ ] Scrub the sink, then polish the faucet and mirror until they shine. A streak-free mirror is worth the extra 30 seconds.
- [ ] Scrub the tub, shower walls, and glass. Don't forget to pull any hair out of the drain, that's the one detail guests always remember.
- [ ] Wipe along the caulk line where the tub and toilet meet the floor. It's usually the spot that gives a bathroom away as less than spotless.
- [ ] Clean the toilet bowl, the base, and the seat (including the underside of the lid).
- [ ] Leave 6 rolls of toilet paper per bathroom: 1 on the holder and 5 as backup where guests can find them easily.
- [ ] Set out 8 bath towels total (2 per guest). Fold and hang them with a fan fold to match the listing photos.

09 Bedrooms

8 ITEMS

Fresh linens, beds made neat, nothing of the last guest left behind.

- [ ] Make every bed with fresh sheets and pillowcases. Always fresh, even if the last guest barely slept in it.
- [ ] Put 4 pillows on each King or Queen bed.
- [ ] Put 2 pillows on each Twin bed.
- [ ] Leave one extra sheet set for each bed folded in the closet. If a guest has a late-night spill, they can change it themselves without bothering you.
- [ ] Arrange the decorative pillows and throws to match the listing photos. Guests should walk in and see the same home they booked.
- [ ] Open the nightstand drawers to check for anything a guest may have left, then wipe the tops.
- [ ] Vacuum or sweep under the bed and into the corners. Easy to skip, and the one place guests somehow always look.
- [ ] Open every closet and count the hangers. Leave them evenly spaced so it feels like a hotel.

10 Living room and dining

5 ITEMS

Guests spend most of their time here. Make it feel like a home, not just a clean room.

- [ ] Fluff and rotate the couch cushions, and check underneath for crumbs or anything the last guest dropped.
- [ ] Wipe the tables, shelves, remotes, and any décor. Remotes especially, since everyone touches them.
- [ ] Adjust the blinds or shades to match the standard look. Little thing, but it's what sells the first impression.
- [ ] Turn the TV on to check for cracks and confirm Roku or Apple TV is still signed in. Guests getting locked out is one of the most common complaints. (only if has tv)
- [ ] Sweep the fireplace hearth and check the glass for soot or smudges. (only if has indoor fireplace)

11 Entry, lobby, and hallways

4 ITEMS

This is the first thing guests see. Make the opening moment count.

- [ ] Wipe the entry tables, mirrors, and door handles. It's the first surface a guest touches, so make it feel cared for.
- [ ] Look for scuff marks on the walls and doors, and wipe off anything you can. A magic eraser makes quick work of most of them.
- [ ] Sweep and vacuum the lobby, just inside the front door, and the area right in front of the unit.
- [ ] Make sure the welcome items (snacks, note card, key instructions) are in place and easy to spot.

12 Exterior, patio, and balcony

8 ITEMS

A quick sweep and wipe outside says you care about every corner of the home.

- [ ] Sweep the porch, balcony, or patio and clear out any trash, leaves, or cobwebs. Guests love these spaces, so they're worth the extra minute. (only if has patio or balcony)
- [ ] Check the outdoor furniture covers, and wash them if they're dirty. (only if has outdoor furniture)
- [ ] Wipe down the outdoor furniture and check the cushions for rain spots or stains. (only if has patio or balcony)
- [ ] Scrub the BBQ grates and wipe the outside of the grill. Guests notice a dirty grill the second they lift the lid. (only if has BBQ grill)
- [ ] Test the pool chemistry and write down the pH and chlorine levels. (only if has pool)
- [ ] Check the hot tub cover, the water level, and skim off any debris. (only if has hot tub)
- [ ] Take all the trash and recycling bags out to the outside bins. If it's your neighborhood's pickup day, roll them to the curb.
- [ ] Flip every exterior light on and off to make sure they still work. A dark walkway at check-in is a rough start to a stay.

13 Finished photos

13 ITEMS

A visual record for your own files. Any order is fine, and these are optional but really worth doing.

- [ ] The entry area.
- [ ] The kitchen, including inside the cabinets and drawers.
- [ ] The dining area.
- [ ] The living room.
- [ ] Every bathroom.
- [ ] Every bedroom, including a quick shot under each bed.
- [ ] The laundry room.
- [ ] The front patio or lobby.
- [ ] The balcony or back patio. (only if has patio or balcony)
- [ ] The outdoor trash and recycling bins in place.
- [ ] The supply closet. Handy later when you're trying to remember what to reorder.
- [ ] The locked front door, as proof the home is secured on your way out.
- [ ] The TV powered off with no cracks on the screen. (only if has tv)

14 Final walkthrough

9 ITEMS

One last loop through the home before you lock up.

- [ ] Walk every room one more time with fresh eyes. It's amazing how often you'll catch something on the second pass.
- [ ] Double-check that all the surfaces, floors, and beds look clean and ready.
- [ ] Confirm the laundry is fully done: dried, folded, and put away. Nothing left sitting in the washer or dryer.
- [ ] Set the thermostat to 70°F before you lock up. The next guest walks into a comfortable home without running your bill up overnight.
- [ ] Make sure the TVs are off and the screens are in good shape, no cracks or glitches.
- [ ] Test the remotes, smoke detectors, and any other battery-powered devices. Dead batteries are a quick way to get a middle-of-the-night message.
- [ ] Set the welcome snacks out on the kitchen counter or entry table where guests will see them right away.
- [ ] Lights off, windows closed, every door locked. That's the last thing to check before you go.
- [ ] Make a quick list of anything running low so you can reorder it before the next stay. Future you will be grateful.
